REPORT FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Fellow CMA Members,

A fter another year of extraordinary exhibitions, the 2013-14 season marked my final year as executive director of the Canton Museum of Art. Before embarking upon the new adventure of retirement, I now offer you a few personal reflections on our Museum over the last several years and our continuing journey through the visual arts.

The first time I ever gave serious thought about retiring occurred during our preparations for the Clyde Singer’s America exhibition, back in 2007. Clyde’s historic connection with the CMA went back to our earliest days, when he was one of the first artists—if not the first—to be exhibited in the Little Civic Art Gallery in 1935. A prolific artist, Clyde enjoyed at least one show per decade in our museum up until the time of his passing in 1998. His friendship and a profound admiration for his art compelled me to stay on.

Soon thereafter came the news of the lavish Kimono as Art exhibition in 2009, direct from a museum in Japan and made possible with major support from The Timken Foundation of Canton. There was much work to be done, and once again, retirement was out of the question. The dual-coast exhibition with the San Diego Museum of Art and the Timken Museum of Art delivered record-breaking attendance, and Canton was entranced—and remains so—by Japanese kimono master, Itchiku Kubota.

Numerous exciting exhibitions followed, inspiring me to push retirement even further. This year’s lineup was exceptional, including the national tour premiere of Dante’s Inferno: The Illustrations of Amos Nattini, back in 2009, direct from a museum in Italy. The exhibit wowed the discriminating tastes of our esteemed guests and again set an attendance record. The Legacy of Ferdinand A. Brader featured drawings of Ohio and Pennsylvania from the 19th century and was brought to the Canton Museum of Art in 2013 by the friendly folks at the Columbus Museum of Art. The exhibition was a major media coverage and appeal, and our venue successes are numerous.

Throughout 2013 and 2014, several new acquaintances and old friends in the world of art provided opportunities for important exhibitions: this year, Tom Folk brought us the fabulous Waylande Gregory Art Deco Ceramics exhibition; Guest curator Kathleen Wieschaus-Voss is assembling an important collection of 19th century drawings of Ohio and Pennsylvania for the forthcoming exhibition, The Legacy of Ferdinand A. Brader (December 2014); and Gary Erbe, himself a master of trompe l’oeil and a respected addition to our Permanent Collection, is bringing Allied Artists of America and his own works to our galleries in 2015. And there is more to come in the world of ceramics and watercolors, including shows from the Museum of Fine Arts, Houston, and the brilliant American watercolorist Joseph Raffael.

One of my final projects was developing a collaborative project with Walsh University for an exhibition of 34 color lithographic illustrations, part of the CMA Permanent Collection, created by the Italian artist Amos Nattini for a special edition of Dante’s Inferno, published in Milan in 1928. The exhibition, Dante’s Inferno: The Illustrations of Amos Nattini, opened August 25, 2014, to a standing-room-only crowd in the Atrium Gallery of the Birk Center for the Arts at Walsh. Also included is a ten-week seminar series on Inferno-related topics and themes, adding much to the exhibit and the learning experience. All of this was offered as a CMA Education Outreach program for the community—and the kind of project I intend to pursue in retirement.

Our long-standing goal at the Museum, established on the threshold of the new century, was to enhance the reputation of the CMA as a major regional attraction, not only to serve our own Stark County citizens, but to motivate visitors far beyond our borders to make a cultural journey to Canton. Reviewing our exhibitions of the past few years, and looking at what is coming, it certainly appears that we are firmly on track. But this progress comes at a price: national touring exhibitions, and our own original exhibitions, are costly affairs in both rental and marketing expenses, and our accreditation by the American Alliance of Museums requires that our facility maintain the highest environmental and security standards. These financial and facility issues will continue to be areas to address in the immediate future.

Another major point of pride for me, for Canton, is the Museum’s Permanent Collection. Thanks to the efforts of the CMA staff and board, we have seen the Permanent Collection escalate in appraised value from about $8 million in 1988 to nearly $25 million today, attesting to the discriminating tastes of our esteemed Collections Management Committee in our purchases, and scrupulous acceptance of only the very best.

To Max, I offer whatever assistance I can provide, if it is desired; likewise to our affiliates and to our board and its committees. To my co-workers, I thank all of you most sincerely for your dedication to the Museum and for our warm and wonderful relationship; rest assured: I am not fading into CMA history. I have assigned myself the task of becoming a strong advocate for the arts (note my use of the plural) in all my future lecture venues, memberships, educational associations, and community activities. I may be retiring, but I promise never to be very far away.

Respectfully submitted,

Others have moved on to new endeavors, and others are no longer with us, but their influence remains strong. To the wonderful members of our Museum groups—Canton Fine Arts, Volunteer Angels, Canton Artists League, Ceramics Guild, Docents—you have my deep appreciation for the years of support. I know it will continue.

As I complete this letter, I am thrilled to learn that the CMA Board of Trustees has named Max Barton as our next executive director. Max’s enthusiasm, marketing savvy, and dedication to the business of the arts were readily applied when he joined the Museum as marketing director two years ago, and his passion brought immediate benefits. I have enjoyed working alongside Max, and after a national search for my successor, our search committee and board determined that we had the best candidate right here. His vision and leadership will continue the Museum’s growth and creative spirit.

The finest gifts from our patrons. We continue to make the Permanent Collection a regular feature of our exhibition schedule. And, I am proud to add, our respect for our own regional artists is demonstrated by their frequent representation in our galleries.

My 39-year career with the CMA has been a wonderful adventure. I am most grateful for the companionship of my wife, Pat, all along the way. I have valued her friendship, benefited from her advice, shared many joyful experiences, and survived every adversity under her watch.

I am grateful to all the friends who have dedicated so much of their personal time and labor to the CMA in so many ways, and across so many years. There are those whose years of dedication to the CMA parallel my years as an employee here, and so many more have maintained close ties with the CMA for decades.

Respectfully submitted,

M. J. Albacete

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR’S REPORT
Board of Trustees and Members • Canton Museum of Art
Canton, Ohio

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Canton Museum of Art (a nonprofit organization), which comprise the statements of financial position as of June 30, 2014 and 2013, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion
In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Canton Museum of Art as of June 30, 2014 and 2013, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Canton Ceramic Artists Guild (CCAG)

The professional artists who belong to the Canton Ceramic Artists Guild today remain dedicated to supporting ceramic education at the CMA, just as the members who founded the group in 1974. The 13 active members and 2 apprentices meet monthly and promote pottery education by volunteering their time and knowledge to fire students’ artwork, maintain the pottery classroom, and demonstrate techniques to children and adults. They also support the CMA’s pottery education program financially: through sales of their artwork at the annual Christkindl Markt and the Guild’s May Sale, 30 percent of their proceeds are donated to the Museum for pottery studio maintenance and upgrades, special workshops, and purchases for the CMA Permanent Collection.

Not only does this group provide the skills, knowledge, and time critical to making CMA pottery classes successful, but the CCAG also supports the Canton community by participating annually in the “Empty Bowls for Hunger” program. This year marked the 17th consecutive year that the CCAG has sold “Empty Bowls,” with sales exceeding $1,100, all of which was donated to the Stark County Hunger Task Force. We thank our CCAG members for all the do for the Museum and our community.

Canton Museum of Art Docents

Docents at the Canton Museum of Art provide a vital service to audiences, taking children and adults on tours of CMA exhibitions and other programs. Our Docents are an all-volunteer group, dedicating their time at monthly meetings to learn about each new exhibition, providing tours, leading studio art projects, and answering questions at exhibition openings, Family Days, and other special events.

In 2013-14, our volunteer Docents provided over 100 scheduled group tours, benefiting more than 800 adults and over 1,100 of the youngest Museum patrons. More than 650 of these students came from the Canton City Elementary Schools in our area.

CMA docents consistently receive praise for their tours and are valued for their knowledge and insight of the featured exhibitions and the CMA Permanent Collection. We are grateful that they are dedicated to providing this service to the Museum and make a positive impression with our audiences—helping to grow and enrich the arts and humanities experience that we deliver.

Canton Artists League

Founded in 1996, the mission of the Canton Artists League is to provide enriched opportunities and encouragement for professional, semi-professional, and amateur visual artists and individuals with a sincere interest in supporting art. This is accomplished through a combination of exhibits, shows, educational workshops, field trips, and community support programs. The League presents a biennial show in the galleries of the Museum, and League members are all valued members of the Canton Museum of Art.

Canton Fine Arts Associates

Founded in 1952, Canton Fine Arts Associates, Inc. is a non-profit, membership affiliate of the Canton Museum of Art. Canton Fine Arts sponsors monthly luncheons (held the second Wednesday of the month, September - April) with presentations and demonstrations on CMA exhibitions and art-related topics.

Dedicated to furthering participation in the visual fine arts in our area, Canton Fine Arts organizes and presents an annual CMA fundraiser, Christkindl Markt (second weekend of November). Now in its 43rd year, this premier juried fine arts and fine crafts show, held at the Canton Cultural Center for the Arts and Canton Museum of Art, draws more than 100 artists from across the country—offering unique and handcrafted artworks to nearly 4,000 visitors each year.

Canton Fine Arts also sponsors Museum exhibitions and other activities throughout the year. To learn more about the group and about Christkindl Markt, or to become a member, visit www.cantonart.org/canton-fine-arts.
Contributions of property and equipment are recorded as support at their estimated fair value. Such contributions are reported as unrestricted support unless the donor has restricted the contributed asset to a specific purpose. Assets contributed with explicit restrictions regarding their use and contributions of cash that must be used to acquire property and equipment are reported as restricted support.

Absent donor stipulations regarding how long those contributed assets must be maintained, the Museum reports expirations of donor restrictions when the donated or acquired assets are placed in service as instructed by the donor. The Museum reclassifies temporarily restricted net assets to unrestricted net assets at that time.

Inventory
Inventories of merchandise purchased for resale or used for classes are stated at lower of cost or market determined by the first-in, first-out (FIFO) method.

Investments
Investments in equity securities with readily determinable fair values and all investments in debt securities are reported at fair value, based on quoted prices in active markets (all Level 1 measurements), with gains or losses included in the statement of activities. Interest and dividend income, net of applicable management fees, and net realized and unrealized gains or losses on fair value of investments are each reported in the period earned as increases or decreases in unrestricted net assets.

FASB ASC 820, established a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value into three broad levels. The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement in its entirety falls is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the measurement in its entirety.

Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the reporting entity has the ability to access at the measurement date. A quoted price in an active market provides the most reliable evidence of fair value.

Level 2 inputs are inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1, that is, inputs that are observable either directly or indirectly, and include:

- Quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets.
- Quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in markets that are not active, inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability, and inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means.

Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for the asset or liability, that is, inputs that reflect the reporting entity’s own assumptions about the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability (including assumptions about risk) developed based on the best information available in the circumstances.

For the years ended June 30, 2014 and 2013 the Museum engaged solely in Level 1 inputs.

Improvements and Equipment
Improvements and equipment are recorded at cost or fair value in the case of donated property at the date of acquisition. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred, while expenditures for additions and improvements are generally capitalized. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets. Depreciation expense amounted to $24,889 and $26,210 for the years ended June 30, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

Donated Facilities and Services
The Museum entered into an agreement with Arts in Stark (formerly the Cultural Center for the Arts) (AIS) of Canton, Ohio for the use of facilities at 1001 Market Avenue North. The agreement is automatically renewed from year to year, unless notification to the contrary is made by either party 120 days prior to the end of the calendar year. Under the agreement, no rental payments are made to AIS. However, the Museum is responsible for maintenance and repair of the facilities, as well as its pro rata share of certain utility costs.
Contributed facility income and expense for the special purpose facilities has been reflected in the financial statements under the heading “In-kind contribution – use of facilities” and within various expenses, respectively, in the amount of $406,300 for the years ended June 30, 2014 and 2013.

The value of contributed services is not included in the financial statements since no objective method of measuring their value is available. However, there are a number of volunteers who have donated a considerable amount of time to the Museum’s programs and activities.

Art Collections
The Museum’s art collections, which were purchased or donated, are not included as assets in the statement of financial position. Each of the items is cataloged, preserved, and cared for, and activities verifying their existence and assessing their condition are performed continuously. The collections are subject to a policy that requires proceeds from their sales to be used to acquire other items for collections. Purchases of collection items are recorded as decreases in net assets in the year in which the items are acquired. Contributed collection items are not reflected on the financial statements. Proceeds from deaccessions are reflected as increases in net assets.

Functional Allocation of Costs
Costs of providing various programs and other activities have been summarized on the statement of activities on a functional basis as determined by management.

Advertising Costs
Advertising costs, which are expensed as incurred, totaled $20,490 and $19,795 for the years ended June 30, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

Income Taxes
The Museum is a non-profit entity and has been granted an exemption from income taxes under the provisions of Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(3).

Uncertain Tax Positions. The Museum complies with the provisions of FASB ASC 740-10, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes. The provisions prescribe a two-step process for recognizing and measuring income tax uncertainties. First, a threshold condition of “more likely than not” should be met to determine whether any of the benefit from an uncertain tax position should be recognized in the financial statements. If the recognition threshold is met, FASB ASC 740-10 provides additional guidance on measuring the amount of the uncertain tax position. The Museum may recognize a tax benefit from an uncertain tax position under FASB ASC 740-10 only if it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained on examination by taxing authorities based on the technical merits of the position. The tax benefit recognized in the financial statements from an uncertain position should be measured under FASB ASC 740-10 based on the largest benefit that has a greater than 50% likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. FASB ASC 740-10 also provides guidance on derecognition, classification, transition and increased disclosure of uncertain tax positions. The Museum recognized no liability for unrecognized tax benefits resulting from FASB ASC 740-10 based on the largest benefit that has a greater than 50% likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. FASB ASC 740-10 provides additional guidance on measuring the amount of the uncertain position should be recognized in the financial statements. If the recognition threshold is met, the tax benefit recognized in the financial statements from an uncertain position should be measured under FASB ASC 740-10 based on the largest benefit that has a greater than 50% likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. FASB ASC 740-10 also provides guidance on derecognition, classification, transition and increased disclosure of uncertain tax positions.

Reclassifications
Certain 2013 amounts have been reclassified to conform with the 2014 financial statement presentation.

Subsequent Events
The Museum has evaluated subsequent events through September 2, 2014, the date which the financial statements were available to be issued.

NOTE G - RETIREMENT ANNUITY PLAN
The Museum has in effect a defined contribution retirement annuity plan covering substantially all of the Museum’s full-time employees. Under the plan, contributions made by the employees through salary reduction agreements are matched by the Museum. Since the annuities are owned individually, each participant is fully vested. The expense to the Museum was $11,619 and $10,358 for the years ended June 30, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

Formed in 1992 by Tanya Harroff and Rachel Schneider, the Volunteer Angels are passionate about the arts, and each year they provide matching dollars to the thousands of hours provided by Museum volunteers. The Angels meet once a year for a sumptuous luncheon and Museum presentation about upcoming exhibitions and events. Their generous donations provide unrestricted operating funds for a variety of Museum programs, from exhibitions to education and special events—and they honor the efforts of Museum volunteers throughout the year. In the last 22 years, the Angels have provided more than $700,000 in funds to the Museum.
